Employee relationship management includes different activities which a organization can adopt by superiors or the management to develop an healthy and friendly relationship between the employees and extracts the best out of each team member.

2. REVIEW OF LITERATURE

Bajaj (2022) Employee relation is defined as the relationship between employees and managers to enhance moral, commitment and trust of employees and to create suitable working environment which enables them to put much effort for the achievement of organizational goals. An effective employee relation involves creating and cultivating a motivated and productive workforce. Creating healthy employee relation in an organization is a prerequisite for the achievement of organizational goals.

For this to happen, organizations have to develop strong employee relationship which involves motivating employees, making them to participate in decision making activity and create an opportunity for free flow of information in the organization and resolve conflicts or disagreements when they arise in the work place. This scenario makes employees to develop a sense of ownership in the organization and this in return initiated them to work hard.

Lagergren and Anderson (2022) Healthy employee relation leads to more efficient, effective and productive employees which further leads to the increment of production level in the organization. Employee relationship management is relatively a recent term defined as a strategy to effectively manage employees in a way they can attain organizational objectives.

Employee relationship management includes various activities on which an organization implemented by the management so as to develop friendly cooperative relationship with its employees. It helps to create cohesive work environment in which all employees work together in collaboration to ensure the realization of its goals. Besides, it promotes commitment, facilitates employees in achievement of organizational objectives minimizes workplace conflict and increases trust.

Md. Sahedur Rahman (2021), “Effect of Employee Relationship Management (ERM) on Employee Performance”. The objective of the research is to examine the effects of ERM on employee performance at banking sectors and to provide suggestions on how to implement ERM in the organization.
